

PHISH GAMES

Who do you trust?

Attackers hide their identities betting you will fail in the games they play. Defend your network perimeter with your knowledge and experience. No one knows if they do this for money or amusement, but they are a threat. You are just a number to them. Don't let them win. Play right. Be secure.

Don't Get Played

Be familiar with your security policies. Verify the source of financial requests. Avoid unknown emails or websites.

Know Your Teammates

If you see suspicious activity or click on a phishing email, alert your IT team immediately to contain any threat.

Keep Your Intel Private

Don't overshare on social media. Hackers can manipulate photos or information to steal your identity.
